Medicaid Telehealth Reimbursement	Summary	Massachusetts Medicaid (MassHealth) allows for the use of telehealth in Medicaid behavioral health services. Additionally, a 2014 budget bill that allocated funds for the reimbursement of remote patient monitoring mentioned telehealth. CCHP has found no further details regarding this. It should be noted that Massachusetts is a managed care state, and that some individual Medicaid managed care plans may reimburse for telehealth delivered services.
	Definitions	Behavioral Health Services            Telehealth is the use of electronic communication and information technologies to provide or support clinical care at a distance. The delivery of services through telehealth involves the use of secure interactive audio and video telecommunications systems that permit two-way, real-time communication between a patient and a provider. Source: MassHealth All Provider Bulletin 281, p. 1, Jan. 2019. ## Private Payer Laws

Definitions

“Telemedicine as it pertains to the delivery of health care services, shall mean the use of interactive audio, video or other electronic media for the purpose of diagnosis, consultation or treatment. ‘Telemedicine’ shall not include the use of audio-only telephone, facsimile machine or e-mail.”

Source: Annotated Laws of MA. Part I, Title XXII, Ch. 175, Sec. 47BB. (Accessed Sept. 2019).

Requirements

Private payers may provide coverage of telemedicine services and must be consistent with coverage for health care services provided through in-person consultations. However, coverage of telemedicine services may be limited to providers in a telemedicine network approved by the insurer. Contracts may also require a deductible, copayment, or coinsurance for telemedicine services that does not exceed the deductible, copayment, or coinsurance which is applicable to an in-person consultation.
